HOW TO USE / ADVICE

Preferably use in the evening on cleansed skin. Apply a small amount of product on the face, avoiding the periocular area, before the cream. During the day apply a sunscreen. Do not use in the same routine in combination with other direct acids.

ACTIVE INGREDIENTS / EFFECTS

15% mandelic acid: mandelic acid is an aromatic organic acid that can be extracted from bitter almonds or prepared by chemical synthesis, belonging to the category of alpha-hydroxy-acids. Due to its chemical characteristics and superior molecular weight, mandelic acid penetrates more gradually and evenly through the skin than other alpha-hydroxy acids. In this way it is less irritating, for example, than glycolic acid, and more suitable for sensitive skin. Like other alpha-hydroxy-acids, it has benefits in treating acne and of hyperpigmentation.

Thanks to the exfoliating action, mandelic acid helps: improve the appearance of surface lines and wrinkles; increase the brightness of the skin; promote the discoloration of dark spots; smooth scars, making them less noticeable; promote the synthesis of collagen, hyaluronic acid and blood flow; increase the absorption of other active ingredients present in the cosmetic.

Thermal salts: soothing and antioxidant properties.
