ACTIVE INGREDIENTS / EFFECTS

Hyaluronic acid: it is a linear polysaccharide naturally present in the human body, is one of the main components of the connective tissues of man and is particularly concentrated in the skin. The main feature of hyaluronic acid is its ability to bind to water molecules, storing them in the skin tissue. This property helps to maintain an optimal level of hydration, significantly promoting the elasticity and tone of the skin. Another important function of this polysaccharide concerns its ability to promote the regeneration of damaged tissues, stimulating cell proliferation and differentiation. The natural concentration of hyaluronic acid tends progressively to decrease following the physiological aging and the action of free radicals. This results in a reduction in the level of hydration of the tissues, accompanied by a loss of elasticity, tone and firmness of the skin. Thanks to the wide variety of molecular weights, hyaluronic acid is able to act at different skin levels.

High and very high molecular weight hyaluronic acid: they form a protective film on the surface of the skin, defending it from aggressive external agents (such as pollution).

Medium molecular weight hyaluronic acid: adheres to the skin surface, hydrating and softening the stratum corneum.

Low molecular weight hyaluronic acid: penetrates deeply, improving and prolonging hydration.

Thermal salts: antioxidant-soothing action on all skin types.

Alpha hydroxy acid complex: mixture of glycolic-lactic acid to stimulate the metabolic activity of fibroblasts and promote renewal cell phone.
