ACTIVE INGREDIENTS / EFFECTS

Hyaluronic acid: is a linear polysaccharide naturally present in the human body. It is one of the main components of the connective tissues of man and is particularly concentrated in the skin. The main feature of hyaluronic acid is its ability to bind to water molecules, storing them in the skin tissue. This property helps to maintain an optimal level of hydration, significantly promoting the elasticity and tone of the skin. Another important function of this polysaccharide concerns its ability to promote the regeneration of damaged tissues, stimulating cell proliferation and differentiation. The natural concentration of hyaluronic acid tends progressively to decrease following the physiological aging and the action of free radicals. This results in a reduction in the level of hydration of the tissues, accompanied by a loss of elasticity, tone and firmness of the skin. Thanks to the wide variety of molecular weights, hyaluronic acid is able to act at different skin levels.

Mix of antioxidants: prevent skin aging and reduce wrinkles and damage associated with photoaging.

Thermal salts: antioxidant and soothing.

Chemical sunscreens: also called "organic filters" are substances capable of absorbing UV radiation through a mechanism of action similar to that exercised by natural melanin.

Physical sunscreens: also called "inorganic filters" are substances capable of reflecting or spreading ultraviolet radiation.
